2017 | Volume Volume - 2 - Issue Issue - 1

In this issue

Research Article

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-116

Effects of “Eight-Point Regulation” and “Chinese Military Bans Luxury Banquets” on Price, Sale, and Consumption of High-End Alcohol Products in China

Published On: December 05, 2016 | Pages: 071 - 075

Author(s): Xianglong Xu, Runzhi Zhu, Sha Deng, Sheng Liu, Dengyuan Liu, Cesar Reis, Manoj Sharma and Yong Zhao*

Background: Alcohol use disorder was linked to corruption, abuse of power, and bureaucratic inefficiency in mainland China. The Communist Party of China issued the “Eight-Point Regulation” and “Luxury Banquets Ban for Chinese Military” in December 2012 to eliminate extravagance and corruption. ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000016

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-115

Enhancing Nursing Student Success: A Critical Realist Framework of Modifiable Factors

Published On: December 05, 2016 | Pages: 057 - 070

Author(s): Gemma Sinead Ryan*

There is a range of literature examining the predictors of academic success in nursing including age, entrance qualification and background. However, these are factors that cannot be changed once a student is on a programme of study. ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000015

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-114

Motivation in the First Year of Nursing Education: It’s Relationship with Professional Self-Concept, Self-Esteem

Published On: December 01, 2016 | Pages: 050 - 056

Author(s): Feride Taskin Yilmaz*, Selma Sabancoullar and Azime Karakoc Kumsar

Aim: Motivation is one of the processes that initiates the effectiveness of learning. The study was conducted in order to examine the motivation levels of nursing students in their first year and the relationships between motivation levels and professional self-concept and self-esteem levels, as well as determining the personal and occupational characteristics that af ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000014

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-113

Risk Factors for Preterm Labor among Women Attending El Shatby Maternity University Hospital, Alexandria, Egypt

Published On: October 05, 2016 | Pages: 045 - 049

Author(s): Nermeen Saad El Beltagy*, Mohamed Mustafa Rocca, Heba Mahmoud TahaEL-Weshahi and Marwa Samir Abdel Hamid Ali

Introduction : Despite the progress made in perinatal medicine over the past two decades, the problem of preterm labor continues to frustrate satisfactory reproductive outcomes and its prevention still awaits needed improvements. Several factors have been identified to be associated with preterm birth (PTB). ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000013

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-112

Crowd Sourced Assessment of Technical Skills (CSATS): A Scalable Assessment Tool for the Nursing Workforce

Published On: August 26, 2016 | Pages: 040 - 044

Author(s): Sarah Kirsch*, Bryan Comstock, Leslie Harder, Amy Henriques and Thomas S Lendvay

Background: In the current healthcare environment, education for technical skills focuses on quality improvement that demands ongoing skill assessment. Objectively assessing competency is a complex task that, when done effectively, improves patient care. Current methods are time-consuming, expensive, and subjective. Crowdsourcing is the practice of ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000012

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-110

A Study of Reliability and Validity an Attitude Scale towards Simulation- Based Education

Published On: July 05, 2016 | Pages: 028 - 031

Author(s): Gul Pinar*, Gokce Banu Acar and Adnan Kan

Aim: The aim of the current study was to develop a scale to measure the attitudes of nursing students towards simulation-based education. ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000010

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-109

Affective Bond, Loneliness and Socioeconomic Aspects of an Elderly Population in Midwest, Brazil

Published On: June 30, 2016 | Pages: 024 - 027

Author(s): Carlos Kusano Bucalen Ferrari*, Graziele Souza Lira Ferrari, Lohany Dourado Nery, Daniela Franco dos Santos, Noeli Silva Pereira, Jéssica Silva Gonçalves and Geane Francis Santana

Background: loneliness, a common feature among elderly people, can affect health and quality of life. Objective: this article examined affective bond and marital status among elders in “Barra do Garças”, municipality, Mato Grosso State, Midwest Brazil. Methodology: from the 3,593 elderly people, 300 engaged in the study which had been approved b ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000009

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-108

Reasons why Hypertensive Patients Admission to Emergency Services and their Chronic Illness Care Management

Published On: June 07, 2016 | Pages: 018 - 023

Author(s): Nimet Celik and Medine Yilmaz*

The study sample was composed of 200 individuals with hypertension who were admitted to the emergency department of a government hospital. Of the participants, 36.5% presented to the emergency department. Of the participants, those who were older, who had a low education level, who consumed salt without restriction, coffee ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000008

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-107

Flow, Work Satisfactions and Psychological Well-Being among Nurses in Turkish Hospitals

Published On: February 06, 2016 | Pages: 010 - 017

Author(s): Ronald J Burke*, Mustafa Koyuncu and Lisa Fiksenbaum

This exploratory study examined the relationship between the experience of flow at work and indicators of satisfaction, engagement and psychological well-being of nursing staff working in Turkish hospitals. This emphasis was consistent with emerging trends in both psychology and organizational studies, termed positive psychology or positive organizational ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000007

Review Article

Open Access Review Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-111

Virtues, Work Satisfactions and Psychological Well-Being among Nurses in Turkish Hospitals

Published On: August 25, 2016 | Pages: 032 - 039

Author(s): Ronald J Burke*, Mustafa Koyuncu, Ufuk Durna, Recep Cicek and Lisa Fiksenbaum

This exploratory study examined the relationship between virtues and indicators of work satisfaction and engagement, perceptions of hospital functioning and quality of nursing care, and psychological well-being of nursing staff. Working in Turkish hospitals. A virtue is any psychological process that enables a person to benefit himself or herself a ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000011

Open Access Review Article PTZAID:ANPC-2-106

Patients' Experiences of Technology in Care: A Qualitative Meta-Synthesis

Published On: January 25, 2016 | Pages: 001 - 009

Author(s): Eila-Sisko Korhonen*, Tina Nordman and Katie Eriksson

Technology has conquered the world and also heath care as a part of it. It has stated that patients' needs and expectations have not been taken into account when using technology. From caring science point of view it is a problem to leave patients' experiences without attention. By summarizing the past qualitative studies of patients' experiences of technology i ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/anpc.000006