2020 | Volume Volume - 5 - Issue Issue - 1

In this issue

Research Article

Open Access Research Article PTZAID:Allergy-5-122

The skin prick test results to saffron, sumac and barberry in patients with atopy

Published On: November 04, 2019 | Pages: 001 - 003

Author(s): Seyed Hesamedin Nabavizadeh, Mozhgan Moghtaderi*, Soheila Aleyasin, Hossein Esmaeilzadeh and Mohammadmehdi Araghi

Background: Food allergens appear to play a role in the etiology and deteriorating of atopy in some patients, little is known about hypersensitivity to some common food additives in these patients. The purpose of this study was to identify probable sensitization to saffron, sumac and barberry in patients with atopy. ...

Abstract View Full Article View DOI: 10.17352/2455-8141.000022